Re: Dutton Endowed Presidential Chair

At its meeting on March 30, 2015, CAP reviewed the documents supporting the Ted and Jo Dutton Endowed Presidential Chair for Education Policy and Politics in the Graduate School of Education. CAP was enthusiastic about the establishment of these Presidential Chairs and voted in favor of the proposal +9-0-0. However, CAP expressed concern with the third sentence under section E of background information finding it to be ambiguous and too narrowly defined.

I. Background Information

- E. Proposed use(s): To advance the mission of the Graduate School of Education. A portion of the endowment payout will be used to provide the appointed chair holder a scholarly allowance to support research and teaching. Also, a portion of the endowment payout will also be used to support faculty salary and/or graduate fellowships in the chair holder's department.

The current language does not demonstrate if the chair holders have the ability to make the decision if the scholarly allowance will be used to support faculty salary and/or graduate fellowships in the chair holder's department. CAP strongly believes this determination should be at the discretion of the chair holder and noted in the policy.

In addition, CAP found the designation for support of graduate fellowships in the chair holder's department to be too narrowly defined. CAP recommends the use of broader language as several graduate students are part of interdepartmental and intercollege programs.
