Re: Review of Proposed CNAS Reorganization

The Committee on Educational Policy reviewed the proposal for a reorganization of CNAS at their January 8, 2016 meeting. The Committee has significant concerns regarding the continuity of undergraduate instruction and how this will be maintained following the re-organization. These include the issues of how the programs will continue to operate and how faculty will be assigned to instruct undergraduate courses. The Committee recommends that the proposal be expanded to address these issues explicitly.
