RE:  CONFLICT OF INTEREST STATEMENT

The Committee on Academic Computing and Informational Technology has re-adopted the following conflict-of-interest statement for the 2012-13 year:

In cases where a committee member's association with departments or programs, or with individuals bringing business before the committee might be considered as a conflict of interest, the committee member(s) affected may participate fully in all discussions of the business, but will refrain from any voting. Members of the Committee on Academic Computing and Informational Technology are asked to identify when they may have a potential conflict of interest on any items before any discussion.
