EXTENDED DEADLINE

Nominations Now Open For

ACADEMIC SENATE
DISTINGUISHED TEACHING AWARD
2021

Please submit all nomination letters electronically to senate@ucr.edu by the extended deadline of Friday, January 8, 2021

The Committee on Distinguished Teaching is soliciting nominations for the 2021 Distinguished Teaching Award. Competitive nominees must be members of the Academic Senate and should have a track record of sustained excellence in teaching as part of a balanced career trajectory typically spanning at least 10 years. Nominees must receive three or more nominating letters from students and/or faculty to be considered for this award by January 8, 2021. Each nominator should submit directly to the Committee on Distinguished Teaching, Academic Senate Office a complete letter which must include at least the following information:

(1) a statement explaining the nominee's qualifications
(2) nominator's name and address.

Upon receipt of three letters of nomination, the Committee on Distinguished Teaching will request all available pertinent material from heads of departments and programs to be submitted by February 12, 2021. If the nominators wish to suggest additional sources of supportive materials, they are encouraged to do so.

Nominees of previous years will require re-nomination to be considered by this year's committee. Previous awardees are not eligible.

All documents should be emailed to senate@ucr.edu.
* See attached nomination guide for assembling competitive nominations.
Date: December 14, 2020

To: Distinguished Teaching Award Nominators

From: Susan Straight
    Chair Committee on Distinguished Teaching

Re: 2020-2021 Distinguished Teaching Award – Deadline Extension

Though this academic year has been the most difficult any of us could imagine, we as faculty and staff still managed to teach students, run labs, manage departments, continue research, and hold each other up in collegial solidarity. That's why I'm reaching out to remind everyone that the deadline for nominations for this year's Distinguished Teaching Award has been extended to Friday, January 8, 2021. I encourage us all to consider a faculty member who is eligible and deserving, especially in this year of new ways of teaching, connecting, helping students succeed, and keeping our campus exceptional. Please refer to the Call for nomination instructions, and we look forward to seeing applications.